

This is a unfair proposal that should not be considered. It is just a way for the old broadcast system to try and knock down the rapidly growing new competition.

They know that they are not providing the quality that the listeners want or are willing to pay for so they are trying to disturb the competition.